The Johns Hopkins University cannot issue a “Certificate of Eligibility-I-20” to assist you in obtaining a F-1 visa until you provide a signed statement indicating that you are able to meet all financial obligations of your graduate study. If you will be accompanied by a dependent (spouse or children) increase the figures above by $3,500 per dependent. All funds must be documented by original bank statements or certifications, or by governmental agencies providing money for you. The financial documentation will not be accepted if it is dated over 3 months prior to the issuance of the I-20. The documentation must clearly state in ENGLISH how much the money is worth in U.S. DOLLARS. If the bank account statement does not state the currency, the conversion rate, and the money’s worth in U.S. dollars; then, in addition to the bank statement, a letter from the bank is required stating how much the money is worth in U.S. dollars.

In addition, if another individual is sponsoring the student, each sponsor must submit a completed “Affidavit of Support from Other Sources” form that is attached to this form along with their financial documentation. The “Affidavit of Support...” has to be directly from the sponsor-not from the bank.

I, _____ (student’s printed name) understand that I am ultimately responsible for all anticipated yearly expenses for the length of my stay in the U.S. I further attest that the funds will be available to me for the duration of my program at Johns Hopkins.
