A focus on the most critical business and leadership issues facing health care today
The Johns Hopkins Carey Business School MS in Health Care Management full-time and part-time programs develop managers and leaders in health care management by leveraging Johns Hopkins' internationally-recognized experience and reputation as a leader in the field of health care.

The MS in Health Care Management Program

36 credits

Full-time and part-time formats

Full-time daytime classes in Baltimore, MD

Part-time evening and Saturday classes in Washington, D.C. (Dupont Circle) and Baltimore (Harbor East)

Full-time, cohort-format can be completed in 13 months

Part-time format can be completed in 2 years
“The MS in Health Care Management program provides a solid foundation in the field of health care. In addition, the curriculum allows each student to tailor the program based on his or her individual career goals.”

Kevin Frick, Professor and Vice Dean for Education
Carey Business School
Be a part of the Johns Hopkins Legacy

As part of The Johns Hopkins University—the first research university in the United States—the Carey Business School is dedicated to creating and disseminating knowledge to solve the world’s biggest problems. The Carey Business School prepares business leaders to solve the most pressing issues in the fields aligned with the most promising trends in career growth.

Health Care Management at the Carey Business School

The MS in Health Care Management program is led by Johns Hopkins University world-class faculty. The program was created to address today’s most complex health care issues. The program develops leaders who can make informed, strategic decisions regarding all aspects of health care management, including effective delivery of high-quality care, industry consolidation, escalating costs, disproportionate access to health care, effective health information technology, and ever-increasing regulation.

An MS in Health Care Management provides graduates with the tools and knowledge to:

- Anticipate and effectively address changes in a dynamic industry.
- Gain a thorough understanding of complex health care issues.
- Apply the most relevant business skills and principles in order to make informed decisions.

The number of health care management jobs is expected to increase 22% by 2020, significantly faster than the average growth expected across all careers.

Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS), 2014
The Johns Hopkins Carey Business School is focused, both in course work and research, on four critical areas of the economy: enterprise risk management, financial businesses, health care management, and real estate and infrastructure. In keeping with these focus areas, the Carey Business School offers the study of Health Care Management in four unique programs:

- MS in Health Care Management (36 credits), full-time format
- MS in Health Care Management (36 credits), part-time format
- Global MBA (54 credits) with a concentration in Health Care Management, full-time format
- Flexible MBA (54 credits) with a concentration in Health Care Management, part-time format
- Online Certificate Program – Business of Health Care

Begins Fall 2014. Visit carey.jhu.edu for more information.

Health Care Management has a growing need for leaders in many settings, including:

- Clinics
- Consulting firms
- Health insurance organizations
- Health care associations
- Hospitals
- Mental health organizations
- Nursing facilities
- Physicians practices
- Public health departments
- Rehabilitation centers
- Senior care facilities
- Universities and research institutions
- Nonprofit health care organizations
- U.S. Dept. of Veterans Affairs

Career opportunities exist in specialized areas including:

- Finance
- Government relations
- Human resources
- Information systems
- Marketing/Public relations
- Medical staff relations
- Nursing administration
- Patient care services
- Supply chain
- Health informatics

FOR MORE INFORMATION about the MS in Health Care Management program, contact us at 410-234-9220 or 877-88-CAREY (877-882-2739) or via email at carey.info@jhu.edu.
Our Mission

The Johns Hopkins Carey Business School supports business knowledge development and education through our own initiatives, innovations, and collaborative programs across the Johns Hopkins University. We create and share knowledge that shapes business practices while educating business leaders who will grow economies and societies, and are exemplary citizens.

Program Offerings

MS PROGRAMS
- MS in Enterprise Risk Management
- MS in Finance
- MS in Health Care Management
- MS in Information Systems
- MS in Marketing
- MS in Real Estate and Infrastructure

MBA PROGRAMS
- Global MBA (full-time) program
- Flexible MBA (part-time) program
- Executive MBA program