

SPRING 2022

ACADEMY FOR EMERGING LEADERS

Program Overview

The goal of the Academy for Emerging Leaders (AEL) is to support and accelerate the development of early career professionals who aspire to assume increased responsibility and take on leadership roles. The AEL has been designed specifically for professionals with less than five years of work experience and focuses on developing skills, strategies and tools aimed at boosting your professional competencies and interpersonal skills.

The Academy offers a unique approach by offering twice weekly modules meant to develop self-awareness and provide growth strategies aimed at moving you to the next step in your professional path. The AEL provides a reflective, im-mersive and practical approach to developing leadership skills through the delivery of faculty-led seminars, engaging exercises, and in-depth leadership coaching. In practice, the AEL utilizes research-based programming delivered by Johns Hopkins University faculty to create a personalized and powerful approach to learning suited to serve students in the immediate, intermediate and long-term.
