

ACADEMY FOR WOMEN AND LEADERSHIP

Program Overview

More women occupy positions of leadership in today's business world than ever before, yet women continue to face unique challenges that delay or stall career advancement.

As a participant in the Academy for Women and Leadership, you will gain the insights and practical skills to move purposefully to the highest levels of leadership. With research-based teaching and practical guidance from seasoned leadership coaches, you and your fellow academy participants will emerge reenergized about your career, ready to leverage your influence, and prepared with a realistic plan to impact your organization.

Throughout the multi-day Academy, participants will engage in interactive exercises and discussions, and work alongside their executive coach to augment classroom learning and work toward achieving professional objectives.

Act with purpose, navigate the workplace, and take the lead with new strategies and tactics in this unique women's leadership academy program. As an alumnus of the Women and Leadership Academy, you will join a network of leaders committed to promoting ongoing learning and equity in the workplace.
